Stabled Cattle's Feet. Cattle which stand much in the stable are especially liable to that painful and injurious disease-foul in the foot. When any kind of filth becomes lodged be tween the hoofs that part becomes in flamed, swells and discharges matter while a fungoid growth develops at the same time. When a cow becomes thus afflicted she loses flesh, strength and Seedling Trees, milking power, and dairymen who wish to keep their stock in good condition cannot attend too carefully to their feet. and, as a preventive of the disease, of course, to the cleanliness of the stalls If the trouble does come up, the diseased hoof should be washed, poulticed with linseed, and afterward dressed with sulphate of copper or carbolic acid. The foot should be kept clean and the cow indoors to rest. - Exchange.

Last Year's Loss in Live Stock.

The returns make the percentages of losses among farm animals during the past year, of horses, 1.7. cattle, 3.0. sheep, 4.0, and swine, 8.4. Horses receive better care than any other class of stock, and annual losses vary but little. The percentage of loss of cattle is slight. NURSERY STOCK ly higher than was reported in 1888 and 1889, the scarcity of feed swelling the figures in portions of Kansas and No braska. The losses of sheep have been smaller than usual on account of better care and attention, while less disease than usual is reported among swine, though there is heavy loss in the regions of last year's crop failures.

T. S. INGHAM,

SAN BERNARDING, CAL.

I commenced putting them up (I mean those Blood and Liver Pills,) in Portland, and had a boy distribute a sample to each house. A curious juvenileabout five years old-followed my boy and gathered up the samples. They were sugar-coated and he tackled the whole collection in his neighborhood. That night there was a sad household. but they saved most of the boy. Next day I received an extended lecture Sent by Mail on Receipt of Price, 25c. from his dear mama, but I so convinced her of their value when taken according to directions, that she used and afterwards endorsed them highly. You know what they're for-any blood or liver trouble, headache, lassitude, and all that sort of thing, and they do the work better and easier than anything

The boom in spring advertising. Spring is the season when the young man's lancy lightly turns to thoughts of love. The young woman's imagina-tion is more practically directed towards the numerous spring openings and concomplation of the bargains counter. Now is the time to advertue. Buyers are looking for bargains, and they naturally turn to these columns for anconcements. You can expect them to ook you up and ask if you have any-

Style is of paramount importance in advertising. We have been giving some triking samples of the possibilities in this line lately. Probably they have caught your eye. That's what they're for. This particular form of advertising has worked wonders in John Wansmaker's businers, and is known as the wanamaker style. It has made his fortune if you have energy and nerve.

Top of column. Such a location is very desirable and rather expensive. But it's cheap at any price. If your goods are all wool they teserve to rank high in our columns. But to a well worded and tastefully de--igned admere precedence of position is not essential. It will attract attention

Next to reading matter. Shrewd advertisers have a predilection or placing their announcement as nearly as possible to genuine reading natter, where it appeals insidiously to he wandering eye of the reader and histracts his attention from the Crisis in Europe to the Crisis in Crash Towelings or the latest thing in Haberdash-

Speaking of reading notices. We can put your announcement in plain words, in plain type and in plain ight of every casual reader. This form of advertising proves exceedingly remunerative in some cases.

Run of the paper. The advertiser who has sufficient faith in the integrity and discretion of our ecomplished foreman to trust to his judgment in the location and display of atvertisements never gets left in the long run. Change is a law of nature, and it is well to apply it in your business announcements. Variety is the
